The Problem

The bleak, haunting eyes of the children express it all. Hunger is rampant throughout the world. Seventy percent of the 153,000,000 orphans claim hunger as the number one problem they face. The African continent is plagued by AIDS, war and famine, leaving millions homeless and starving. If you are reading this, you have the power to make a difference.

The Caribbean, Central America, and South America are devastated by the millions of street children, living on the streets, panhandling for their food. Some as young as five roam the streets in search of the next meal from a trash can.

Some make mud cakes to eat in the poorest of poor countries. It is heart-wrenching to watch and devastating to do nothing

Many young people, children even, have been lured into the sexual human trafficking world out of hunger and a need to sleep under shelter. This is the most horrendous injustice and oppression of our time! Slavery, of the young, the helpless, the hungry, and the naïvete has to be stopped and we are serving as a voice to the silent by advocating for them in parliaments and airwaves around the world.

Together, we are building wealth and a solid future for these children beyond measure. All it takes is your time and conscious efforts. These are precious humans who hurt and who need love. We have special programs and incentives that fulfill these needs and bring to light the solutions to resolve the real problem. We know we have succeeded when everyone on earth feels love and inspiration to create from their true purpose.

WHY? The Number of Children Orphaned by AIDS Continues to Grow

The pandemic of homeless and orphaned children is exponentially growing, leaving 147 million children orphaned or displaced globally. Children who have been orphaned or rendered vulnerable by AIDS are among the most impoverished children of the world- currently over 15,000,000. The orphan crisis, (including displaced children from wars, natural disasters and AIDS) creates a humanitarian and economic challenge that our global society must urgently address- There are more than 53.1 million orphans in Sub Sahara Africa alone. The fragile and vulnerable children left behind from these wars, natural disasters and famine, create an unfathomable poverty that renders addressing hunger as a top priority for our global humanitarian society; Over 60 million orphans go to bed hungry every night.

WHEN? - The Second Monday of November each year

The second Monday in November is observed each year to raise awareness of the plight of orphans and displaced children around the world. To commemorate and strengthen the ideals of humanitarian goodwill towards these children, global non-governmental organizations, humanitarian aid organizations, civic groups, and individuals are asked to observe World Orphans Day in their own diverse, effective way. It is trademarked and is supported by national and international media.
